To whom it may concern,

I am extremely pleased to write this letter of recommendation for Mario Sánchez Rodríguez for admission to any student position at your institution.

Having been an assistant professor in the Department of Mechanical Engineering and Energy at Universidad Miguel Hernández (Spain) since 2008, I came to know Mario two years ago when he enrolled in my Applied Fluid Mechanics and Turbomachinery course. I also supervised his Mechanical Engineering Degree Final Project, where he submitted a well-researched and original project. He developed an analytical model of a dew-point evaporative cooler for the evaporative pre-cooling of the inlet air of the condenser in air conditioning applications. The model was validated against experimental data obtained from the literature. His study addressed the hybridisation of a heat pump for air conditioning applications combined with a dew-point evaporative cooler.

I would rank him in the top 10% of students that I have taught in the past few years in terms of his dedication to learning and research abilities. Overall, Mario is highly intelligent and possesses strong analytical skills. He exceeded course requirements and demonstrated great perseverance and initiative throughout the development of the project. He was not only interested in and motivated to learn the material but also put significant effort into developing his own ideas on each topic we discussed. On a personal level, Mario is a well-disciplined, industrious student with a pleasant personality.

I fully recommend Mario for admission to any student position at your institution. I am confident in his ability to undertake even the most complex tasks. He would be an extremely positive asset. Please do not hesitate to contact me for further information.

Sincerely,
